VIII. Old Business

- A. Exploring a joint convention with English Teachers was pending at adjournment of 2014 convention. A survey went out. Feedback was generally positive.
- B. Perhaps provide 4 slots per session. Balance speech and English sessions.
- C. Perhaps setting up a Gmail account for both English and Speech leaders to access for planning
- D. Leo Kallis called for a motion to have a joint convention. Mike Larsen moved. Jan Bergen-Gabor seconded the motion.
- E. Discussion centered on cross population; panels to sit with both organizations. English teachers seem favorable, and their executive committee has voted to do it. There is concern over facility size, but

- the two sites contacted for next year can both handle the numbers of the joint conventions. Do we have joint banquets? This could give English teachers tools to start forensics. How do we handle registration fees, joint keynote speakers, and 4 breakout sessions?
- F. Ken Pickering moved and James Weaver seconded an amendment to the motion to make the joint convention a 3-year trial motion, and then reassess.
 - G. Motion carried unanimously. Leo Kallis will take the decision to the English teachers.
 - H. Discussion on Booths (vendors) at the conventions for a nominal fee ($25) to expose educators to new programs and tools. Some would like a larger fee per table to bring money into the organization. Andrea Carlisle moved to amend the motion to let the executive committee to set the vendor fee. James Weaver seconded. Leo Kallis called for a vote. The amendment passed. Kallis asked for a motion on the previous question. Sally Pies moved the previous question. Motion passed.
